17,000 Acres Of Mucklands Added To Diversified Florida Real Estate Holdings By Investors Syndicate

"Our extensive holdings and operations in Colorado and California furnish a comparison of agricultural operations in the mucklands around Lake Okechobee, and have caused us to feel the need of substantial holdings there to give us a well-rounded list of Florida investments in real estate," stated the chief executive of a group that has recently acquired approximately five and a half miles of frontage on the south side of US 441 and State Road No. 16.

Continuing, the spokesman said "We have plans for installing water control, roads and other improvements necessary to make the land ready for use and expect to begin shortly on a progressive development program."

The disclosure of the purchase was made last Friday when papers in the case were filed for record on 10,835 acres composing a majority of the Gladesville Drainage District. A further purchase of what is known as the Huffy tract just to the west of Gladesville is reported giving the investors approximately 5 1/2 miles frontage on the south side of the road.

The sale of the Gladesville tract was made by Luther Jones, Realtor and Jim Stewart of Miami with attorneys Belinger and Bryan closing the deal for the sellers, Shawano Development Corporation.

The purchasers have already acquired some 80,000 acres of range land on the West coast and two subdivision tracts in the same area; extensive close-in subdivision tracts diversified (Continued on Page Eight)

Penalty On Licenses Is Now In Effect

If you haven't paid your '57 City License, you'd better get down and pay them, as a further penalty will be tacked on by the 1st of the month, when warrants will be issued.

THE JOB MARKET . . . Several good jobs opening remain unfilled because of a scarcity of qualified applicants. Auto and truck mechanics with tools, a laboratory assistant with high school education and agricultural background, a good stenographer, and a plumber are among the jobs missing. District 8, Class A Basketball Tournament To Be Played Here

After a sustained effort extending back three or four years, head basketball coach, H. Duellente has been successful in getting the District 8, Class A Basketball tournament to be played at the Belle Glade High School Gym, on February 27 - 28 and March 1 and 2.

The following eleven high schools will be represented: Stuart, Lake Worth, Sebring, Catholic Central, Stranahan, Ft. Lauderdale, Pompano, Hialeah, Curley, South Dade, Key West and Belle Glade.

This tournament, probably the first of its kind ever held here, will bring approximately 150 high school athletes from the above mentioned schools and several hundred of their followers to participate in and witness the games. It is believed that the calibre of basketball in this conference and district has much improved over that of recent years and that the competition will be exceptionally keen.

Rams To Meet Top Team Here Tonight

By McASKILL

The Rams will play host to the Seacrest Hawks, probably the hottest team in the Suncoast Conference, in the local gym tonight. The Hawks now in first place have compiled a phenomenal victory and scoring record both at home and away and are looking forward to grab the conference crown for the second year in a row.

Although they have been inconsistent in the win column, the Rams have a way of ignoring press notices and records and it is not impossible that they might spring an upset. Belle Glades recent loss to Vero might just take enough pressure off the Rams to enable them to overcome Seacrest who certainly must be playing under terrific pressure.

"Good" steers brought up to $18 at Monday's sale, with Standard grades bringing 1 from 14.75 to 17.50 and a strong demand on all grades in both the slaughter and stocker field.

The stocker sale set for April 3rd is creating interest, and the Market urges everyone who will consign livestock to get their information in by March 20th.

"The slaughterers like the fat ones and the local ranchers want the 'thin ins'" says George; "so there's no better time to call your cow herd."

The Market also has available several experienced cattle handlers; so if you need some call Jimmy Hardy at the Market.

Rams Drop Down To Fourth Place

By McASKILL

Belle Glade's hot and cold Rams were only lukewarm at Tuesday night and dropped an important Suncoast Conference game to the Indians, 56 to 49. The defeat dropped the Rams to fourth place in the conference standings and definitely squelched any chance they might have had to capture the title.

The Indians whom Belle Glade had defeated with ease in their first meeting took the lead and kept them up and were never headed although the Rams made it close all the way. The Indians' "hot" Vero' had scored 24 points at the foul line but had a poor percentage on goal tries from the floor.

Rams 61, Pahokee 46

The Rams survived a rough and tumble affair at Pahokee last Friday night to win by a comfortable margin over their traditional Blue Devil rivals, 61 to 46.

The score at the end of the first half was tied at 28, but the Rams came roaring back to score 33 points in the second half, while Pahokee could muster but 13. The game was a tactical, while Pahokee's gridiron was a free-for-all. In the second half, were decreased in the second half when three of their chief offenders departed (Continued on Page Eight)

Growers like
DITHANE M-22
...tomato diseases

"During the 1955-56 growing season I used DITHANE M-22 exclusively on over 1000 acres of tomatoes. Disease control was excellent... in spite of generally poor growing conditions, my overall average yield was 350 field boxes per acre, which was highly satisfactory under the year's conditions."

JOHN W. CAMPBELL, John W. Campbell Farms Co., Gainesville, Florida

"We have used DITHANE on tomatoes and several other crops... more than 10 years... For our last three tomato crops we have used a lot of DITHANE M-22 and are very pleased with the disease control it gave us. Fruit quality has been superior, and all things considered, I believe DITHANE M-22 is the outstanding tomato fungicide available today."

LOYD D. WITT, Witt Bros., Fort Pierce, Florida

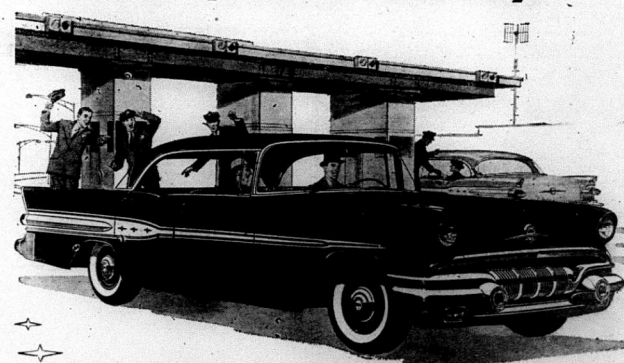

There's no argument anywhere about DITHANE M-22 for overall tomato disease control. About the only difference is that some prefer spray powder—others believe dusts available from your local dealer. Either way, this much fungicide helps you get high, rich green foliage and outstanding yields.

Here's the bomb
THAT BROKE THE
"low-price" lineup!

This big high-stepping Chieftain started a revolution with a carload of "firsts" and an eye-popping price tag!

The low-price field never looked like this before! The handsome husky you see right here has the foot still rocking... with more power, more wheelbase, more room—and more sheer pride of ownership—than ever before possible on a well-trained budget! Just look at what they're making room for now in the low-price lineup: a strapping 347 cu. in., 10 to 1 compression ratio, Strato-Streak V-8... a whopping, road-hugging 122 inches of wheelbase and an all-new suspension system for a Level-Line Ride that's next best thing to a magic carpet! And this streamlined beauty takes on the field with more than six dozen "firsts", all proved by 100,000 of the roughest, toughest test miles a group of fact-minded engineers could devise! At $14,999, it's a wonderful buy—it certainly is! Our advice is to stop dreaming and price it! At a cost less than a lot of the low-price jobs, this newcomer is making big-time buyers out of former "all-three" owners!

State Assistants, 3,953 In PBC In January party, including his Press Agents and Photographers, his office staff and his corps of barbers, valets, manicurists and bootblacks, starting on a grand tour of the scenes which follow represent the problems investigated, all of which are done with much music, dancing and comedy.

One of the outstanding comedy scenes, the Music Problem, will find De Luce demonstrating his old-fashioned type of music, supported by seven gay 90's bathing beauties, who are costumed in costumes of that period. The building "beauties" are Emil Wolfe, Harold Brough, Herman Close, Dick Hodges, Miss Mosley, Clarence Throp and August Kirchman.

Among the leads in other scenes already announced are Libby Hobson, Gene Connell, Bob Willingham, Clark Womack and LeMar Farmer. Each night or rehearsal brings about the organization of new scenes and the appointment of additional leading actors and groups.

A patriotic minstrel part will find a group of "veterans" as End Men. They are T. E. Hollingsworth, V. L. Dexter, Dr. M. J. Luce, Bob Murray, "Trouble" Hotard and Mickey Ferguson. A chorus of 18 Circle men and 18 ladies of the ensemble will assist the End Men in their various musical numbers. Jokes aptly will be presented by the black-face comics.

As in the past the Belle Glade High School Glee Club, under the leadership of Miss Narajarian will present their best talent together with several drill and dance groups and their beautiful choral singing.

Tickets can be obtained from any Lions Club or Glee Club member. Indications point to capacity houses when the curtain opens each night of the show. Audiences will witness a more elaborate equipped show than any before presented by the Lions Club.

Mr. Jones said: "It is encouraging to have investors of this type come into Glades ownership, for they plan development and use of the lands. Their belief in the underpriced ranch lands is substantiated by comparison with cattle and crop production in the much touted California and Florida. This group is not interested in vegetable production according to reports."

"Yeses" Overwhelming In City Water Voting

Some 1186 straw ballots were mailed out; 370 were returned. Of the returned ones, 238 indicated an emphatic "yes," 122 voted as emphatically "no" and nine of them were spoiled.

Those who didn't answer were registered as voting. So the "Yeses" have it by 1052 to 122. If that isn't an overwhelming vote for the water, we're out good at counting.

The '57 Chevy can give lessons on taking curves and holding the road to just about any car going. Few cars at any price are so beautifully balanced and so smooth, sure and solid in action.

A car has to have a special kind of build and balance to keep curves under control. And nobody outside Chevrolet in that department! It "corners" with all the solid assurance of an honest-to-goodness sports car. Chevy doesn't throw its weight around on turns because it carries its pounds in the right places.

Bell System's TV Show Features The Sciences

"Hemo the Magnificent," the second program in the Bell System Science Series, will be telecast in color and black and white over the CBS network Wednesday, March 20, from 9:00 to 10:00 p. m. (EST).

"Hemo the Magnificent" has been produced by Academy Award winner Frank Capra and presents the story of the blood and its circulation. Capra also produced "Our Mr. Sun," the first program in the Science Series telecast on November 19, which dealt with what scientists know about the sun. Like the earlier program, "Hemo the Magnificent" uses actors, animated cartoons, and filmed scenes for the presentation of its scientific information.

The Bell System Science Series has been designed to promote a broader knowledge and understanding of science and the work of scientists in many fields.

Miami's International Boat Show Feb. 22-28th Florida's and Dixie's biggest, the 16th annual Miami International Boat Show, the million-dollar plus panoramic display of recreational boats, marine engines and nautical equipment will embark on its six-day cruise, Feb. 22 at Dinner Key Auditorium. More than 200 new lines for 1957 will highlight the exposition.

Sunday has been designated as Latin American Day. Outstanding leaders in yachting and marine industry fields in neighboring republics to the south are being invited to participate.

The armada on display will include inboard and outboard cruisers, runabouts, skiffs, sailboats, utilities, dinghies, and other craft ranging in size from six-foot water scooters to luxurious ocean-going yachts.

The automotive influence on motor boating will be evident in 1957 creations of boat builders from coast to coast and several European countries exhibiting in the show. Emphasis is heavy on high styling, greater horsepower and more efficient power plants. "Monkey wrench" sailors will find the array of hundreds of outboard motors, inboard gasoline engines and diesel propulsion units particularly fascinating.

Opening day hours will be from 7:30 p. m. to 11 p. m. The show will run from 11 a. m. to 11 p. m., thereafter, with special hours for dealers.

Composers White About It; It's A Nuisance, But—

While at least two American composers have written works about the Federal income tax, one of them setting several paragraphs of the instruction book as a cantata, the average taxpayer probably does not regard news about the annual obligation as music to his ears.

Still, according to District Director Laurie W. Tomlinson of the Jacksonville office of the Internal Revenue Service, it's a situation where approximately 1,000,000 residents of Florida must now face the music, and pay up to the tune of an estimated $750,000,000 their 1956 income taxes owed to Uncle Sam. April 15 is again the deadline.

Nothing much in the essential elements of the tax setup has changed. Mr. Tomlinson declares. Forms have been brightened and tightened, instructions systematized, and the tax returns are still the same as for the last two years, as are the requirements for filing.

Those under 65 who had a gross income of $800 or more during 1956 must file. If over 65, the income base for filing rises to $1,200. In joint filings, where one person is under, the other over 65, and for questions of birthdays during the year, the instruction booklet is clear and detailed. Mr. Tomlinson says. If both are over 65, the base income becomes $2,400 before filing is required.

Self-employed individuals whose net earnings were $400 or more must file. Persons whose incomes were less than $800 or those 65 or over—should file quickly to obtain refunds. There are believed to be several thousand students who worked during vacation or on week-ends before or after school, to whom this would very likely apply.

The form and instruction booklet, read together, should enable most taxpayers to prepare their own returns without too much difficulty, Mr. Tomlinson said.

IT IS UNLAWFUL FOR ANY PERSON OR PERSONS TO ENGAGE IN BUSINESS UNDER A BUSINESS NAME UNLESS THE NAME IS REGISTERED

The law reads as follows:

"It shall be unlawful for any person or persons, as defined herein, to engage in business as herein defined, under a fictitious name as herein defined, without and unless said fictitious name shall be registered with the clerk of the circuit court of the county where the principal place of business is, which registration shall consist of filing with the clerk aforesaid an affidavit signed by all interested persons, stating under oath the names of all those interested in the business enterprise, the extent of the interest of each, and the fictitious name under which said business is carried on. Said registration may not be made until the person or persons desiring to engage in business under a fictitious name shall have advertised his or their intention to register said fictitious name at least once a week for four (4) consecutive weeks in some newspaper as defined by law in the county where said registration is to be made, and said registration shall not be accepted by the clerk of the circuit court except upon receiving proof of such publication."

As interpreted by attorneys, a person may engage in business under his own name, (such as JOHN JONES), but if he uses any business name, (even such as JOHN JONES' FISH MARKET) he is required to register the name with the clerk of the circuit court in his county, and to advertise the name and ownership of his business.

der the new law will be studied to determine whether the person selected the lower instead of the higher monthly payment to which he or she may be eligible. Mr. Vernon S. Parker, Manager of the Pass-Grille VA Regional Office, said.

If the lower monthly payment has been selected, he, no action will be taken on the election, but a letter explaining the difference between the two payments will be sent to the beneficiary.

Mr. Parker emphasized that the election in every case will be the responsibility of the beneficiary. The agency said it merely will provide the necessary information that beneficiaries need to arrive at a decision. This information, he said, will be based on the facts in each beneficiary's file.

The VA estimates nationally that for nearly 100,000 widows the new benefit is unquestionably higher than the present death compensation. These are widows who have no children or widows with no more than one child.

These widows should file their election as soon as possible so they may begin receiving the new benefit at the earliest date. Widows who have more than one child should put off their

Who has replaced the vamp?

She's as extinct as the dodo—this sultry vamp of the 20's. She went out with black silk stockings and "Yes, We Have No Bananas!" And she's been replaced by a much more exciting young lady.

The heroine of 1957 is quite a gal. Without sacrificing a single feminine charm, she has tossed away fuss and feathers and taken on new jobs and new responsibilities. She's versatile, too. In shorts and halter, she can paint a kitchen and be frisky and frail 40 hours later in nylon nile. She can manage a home and raise a family without confining her interests to four walls and diapers. She knows as much about local, national and world affairs as her husband. Usually does more about them.

Often she helps earn the family income—always has a big say in spending it. And whether or not a family has a regular savings program depends a lot on her. She's the matriarch of our community.

That's why so many women are helping their husbands get started on a regular U. S. Savings Bond investment program. They appreciate the feeling of security that such a program guarantees. They know that U. S. Series E Savings Bonds are one of the best investments a family can make. The principal invested in Bonds is safe—not subject to market fluctuations. And the returns are sure.

If you're one of today's efficient, modern young heroines, undoubtedly you take an active interest in your family's future financial security. Remember—one of the best ways to do something about it is to encourage your husband to start investing regularly in Savings Bonds today.

Screwworm Giving More Trouble Than Usual This Winter

"Worst in 10 years" in the current screwworm infestation ravaging beef cattle herds in south Florida.

James E. Pace, animal husbandman with the Florida Agricultural Extension Service, says cattlemen are gravely concerned over the pest which has persisted despite sharp dips in temperature. Cattle infested with this grub lose flesh drastically.

The female flies deposit their eggs in fresh wounds, where the grubs develop in live flesh. New-born calves should have their navels treated promptly.

"There is, however, one very practical argument in favor of preserving wilderness. Just how practical it is has never been fully realized until the recent completion of a survey of the amount of money spent by hunters and fishermen in using our wilderness regions. It is very obvious that these sports cannot be indulged in anywhere except in the great open spaces."

"This survey was made under the direction of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service at the recommendation of the International Association of Game, Fish and Conservation Commissioners. It was a professional job, carried out by a firm of experts, Crossley S-D Surveys of New York. About 20,000

DISCUSSING FLORIDA AGRICULTURAL PROBLEMS. Left to right: James T. Vocelle, chairman of the Florida Industrial Commission; Rudolph Matton, Fort Pierce, president of the Florida Fruit and Vegetable association; Congressman A. S. (Syd) Herlong, Jr., Emmett A. Roberts, Belle Glade, State Representative and chairman of the Florida Citizens' Committee for Migratory Labor and Andrew Duda, Jr., vice president of the Florida Fruit and Vegetable association. Occasion sponsored by the Florida Fruit and Vegetable association at which agricultural interests discussed their problems with Congressman Herlong. Housing of migratory labor received top consideration as one of the major problems currently faced by Florida agriculture.

With some screwworm repellent, says Dr. Leonard Swanson, Parasitologist at the Florida Agricultural Experiment Station, Where navel ill is a problem, iodine should be applied first.

It will pay herd owners to keep close watch for signs of the worm—swellings with watery, blood-tinged exudate and matted hair. In bad infestations, a foul odor can be detected for some distance.

Dr. Swanson says there are several good screwworm preparations that can be used to prevent infestation and to destroy the larvae in wounds. Smears or liquids containing pine tar oil, benzol, diphenylamine or lindane can be used when applied liberally as a preventive or treatment.

For food, lodging and transportation on hunting and fishing trips. It does not, however, include expenditures of those who visit to the national parks and forests who go for the purpose merely of enjoying the scenery, perhaps camping or perhaps staying at lodges or motels. This would certainly swell the total to astronomical proportions. By way of comparison, the annual production of value, not all in cash, from the national forests is estimated at about $50 million.

"Wilderness conservationists believe that a survey of our scenic resources, looking to our recreational needs 50 years from now, is badly needed. Here we have an excellent economic argument for it, and one that can hardly be ignored by the business world. There are plenty of other arguments, primarily social or personal in nature, too often ignored by those who are in a position to help.

"There is no question but that the main incentive in both hunting and fishing is getting away from the works of man and into contact with primitive nature. Killing animals for food or capturing fish by outwitting them with artificial lures is certainly a secondary, and in most cases a very minor, incentive. If the 25-million anglers and hunters turned up by this survey would get solidly behind the small band of wilderness conservationists who are calling for a full scale Scenic Resources Review, this long-desired and very important project might soon be realized."

IT'S THE LAW

PEACE AND JUSTICE

Backed by government, Courts in the old days settled disputes mainly to keep down violence. They also tried to settle cases under rules, which, through custom or legislation, the people looked upon as fair. Courts thus came to keep the peace by public force and persuasion, because they did justice. But how do Courts go about this?

1. Under strict rules of evidence, the Court tries to find out what took place. Sworn witnesses who can be cross-examined tell the story for each side.

2. With the evidence in, the judge lays down the law for the jury properly to apply in such cases.

For us, justice means at least this much: The judge should lay in today's case with the rule in like cases in the past. Lawyers ed, if need be, by the police-agency of the government, to put his decision in force.

4. Of course, sometimes things change so much these days that a judge may feel that a good rule in bygone days no longer has a just outcome. He may apply a rule more fitting to the new times. If this new rule wins over later judges, or stands up in higher courts, then it will govern future cases. Often, too, our legislatures may pass statutes to change old laws.

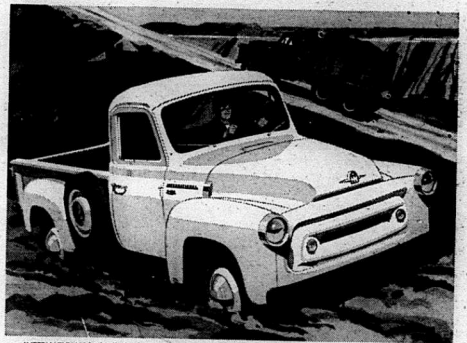

3. With the jury's verdict in, the judge enters a judgment and makes the proper orders, backed call this the doctrine of "stare decisis." Under this doctrine, without good reason to change, the Court stands by decided cases.

You would find fault with any judge who, in similar cases, used one rule for you and another for the man next door, wouldn't you? Especially if he won last week, and you lost this week.

With the jury's verdict in, the judge enters a judgment and makes the proper orders, backed

1956 Income Returns Similar To 1955's

Federal income taxpayers who sought aid last year from the Internal Revenue Service should be sure to dig out their 1955 returns as a guide in preparing the 1956 forms. They had questions or problems then which will recur this year, District Director Laurie W. Tomlinson, cautioned taxpayers in this area today.

"There is little change in the forms normally used by most taxpayers except for a few points of clarification and generally improved typography,"

Mr. Tomlinson said. "These minor revisions are not likely to affect problems which were common to many taxpayers last year and which we were happy to help solve."

"Taxpayers referring to last year's return, while working with the 1956 forms and the excellent new instruction booklet, should be able to come up with the right answers without too much difficulty. They can probably do a better job than they think."

"Where new circumstances have developed, and present help, and a telephone call will probably clear up the trouble."

It usually isn't necessary to visit our office, although help is of course available there to those who have special and complex problems.

Mr. Tomlinson urged taxpayers to file each year's returns carefully among their important papers, and to keep with them all personal papers, cancelled checks, receipts, etc., which relate to income and expenses, for at least three years.

When your bank sends you your statement and cancelled checks for December, 1956, and you receive your last receipts for your expenses up to New Year's Eve—that's a good time to assemble your records of expense and income for last year, and a good time to start preparation of your Federal income tax return.

That was the suggestion voiced today by District Director Tomlinson of the Jacksonville Office of the Internal Revenue Service, who believes that a little system about the business never hurt anybody and might well help some folks to get a refund.

"April 15 is still the deadline for the payment of individual income taxes to Uncle Sam," Mr. Tomlinson admits, "but for thousands of taxpayers there's little point in waiting. Don't file, however, until you receive your Form W-2 withholding certificate from your employer, assuming your tax has been wholly or partially paid on that basis."

"Even if you haven't got that document yet, you know or can easily determine what your income was last year, and you can certainly make a good start right now on your 1956 return," Mr. Tomlinson said. "Being able to do the job at a leisurely and relaxed pace should also make for greater accuracy and make possible a thorough checkover after you've attached your W-2, just before filing."

If you are due a refund, chances are you'll get it quicker by early filing, Mr. Tomlinson pointed out. "There are exceptions sometimes, due to some returns being given necessary verification, but even these won't be delayed too long," he said.

"The proportion of persons entitled to refunds among those paying by withholding often returns being given necessary verification, but even these won't be delayed too long," he said.

Palm Beach Playhouse Presents Celebrated Comedian Feb. 11

Gracie Fields, the celebrated British comedienne, will make her first stage appearance in a legitimate play in America, the week beginning next Monday, February 11, at the Palm Beach Playhouse, when Mary Howe presents her in Sir James M. Barrie's famous comedy, "The Old Lady Shows Her Medals."

GRACIE FIELDS

a one-act play, which will be followed by Gracie Fields' inimitable "Command Performance," dedicated to fun-fair variety and songs by The Lady, Herself.

Gracie Fields' endeared herself to the world when, during

BIFF MCGUIRE

World War II she temporarily gave up her lucrative career and endured many personal hardships and hazarded many a dangerous trip, to entertain English and American troops on the world-wide battle front.

Recently Miss Fields did "The Old Lady Shows Her Medals" on television's "U. S. Steel Hour," and such was the acclaim she decided to make a tour with it, coupled with her "Command Performance" in the same performance she has given many times before at the British Royal Family; at the London Palladium; in leading European capitals, as well as the leading cities in this country.

Stage, screen and television star Biff McGuire, who appeared with Miss Fields on the U. S. Steel Hour's presentation of the Barrie comedy, is joining Miss Fields in Palm Beach for the week's engagement at the Playhouse. A veteran of over 200 television dramas, the lean, young (28 years old) red head won critical acclaim for his portrayal of a young Irishman in Arthur Miller's "A View From the Bridge" on Broadway two seasons back. Previously, McGuire won London's Players and Players Award for the best performance of the year (1955) in "The Moon is Blue." He also had an important role in the recent film, "The Phenix City Story."

Now playing for the last times this week, with a matinee performance on Saturday at 2:40 p. m., is the hilarious Broadway long-run hit, "Amniversary Waltz," co-starring Carol Bruce and Jeffrey Lynn, which has been having a roundabout success at the Playhouse all this week.

Woodman Circle Installs Officers

The Supreme Forest Woodman Circle installed officers for the new year at the first meeting at the home of Mrs. Sam Henderson, Friday evening, Feb. 1.

In the absence of the state manager, Mrs. Mina Patton, Mrs. Sam Henderson acted as installing officer and Mrs. T. E. Strickland as installing Chaplain.

The following members were installed for the new year: Mrs. Raymond Hall, president; Mrs. Louise Martin, first vice president; Mrs. E. E. Dasher, 2nd vice president; past vice president, Mrs. Sam Henderson; Mrs. Shelly Connell, treasurer; Mrs. Amy Strickland, financial secretary; Mrs. Sam Burns, assistant secretary; Mrs. Rosalie Collins, captain; Mrs. Pearl Rawls, auditor; Mrs. Elsie Blackwell, musician.

Mrs. Pearl Rawls and Mrs. Shelly Connell were elected as delegates to the state convention to be held in Tampa in April. Mrs. Dasher announced that she would be hostess for the next meeting of the group on March 12.

Mrs. and Mr. Henderson entertained the members with a barbecue dinner in the patio of their home and a social hour was enjoyed.

Feeling Of Security Needed By Children

One of your child's greatest needs is a feeling of security. Be willing to stand by him in time of trouble or difficulty, so that he will not feel that he can disregard or escape his own share of responsibility.

Show by your words and actions that your child is loved and wanted. This does not mean spoiling and over-indulgence, or letting him have his own way all the time. (When you are out of sight) grows out of love, because children, like all human beings, want to please those they love. Avoid trying to build obedience through fear, threats, bribes or gifts or promises.

Do not be shocked or excited when children show behavior such as anger, cruelty, envy, jealousy or sexuality. Be calm, tolerant and understanding. Remember that children are not born with a knowledge of what constitutes good behavior. They have to learn how to control their natural human emotions and they must not be ashamed or humiliated in the learning.

When your child asks a question, don't hedge, evade or give untrue answers. If he is old enough to ask, he is probably old enough to expect and receive an honest answer.

Give your child a chance to become independent and responsible. Little by little, decrease your own control. A child develops more rapidly and normally if you avoid "babying" him or making all of his decisions for him.

Help your child learn from mistakes—we all make them. Don't let your child feel that a mistake is something to be ashamed of. Explain how mistakes helped you to learn things when you were little.

Have fun with your children. This means doing things with them rather than for them. When visitors come, let your children meet them naturally, as respected members of your family. Try to avoid showing off or treating them as inferiors or nuisances.

Strive for your child's normal growth and development, rather than perfection. Improvement, rather than perfection, is desirable. Improvement is desirable, but perfection is impossible. Do not expect more than your child can do, and above all, never chide him for not being as smart as some other child.

The most important thing that a parent can do is to realize that children are not all alike. Make a sincere effort to understand each child's own natural characteristics—accept each child as a distinct individual.

Give these principals a fair trial, then if a child still presents some important behavior problems which baffle you, consult your doctor, your children's clinic, or your family service agency.

Violin Virtuoso To Appear Feb. 11, at EMCA in Clevelston

Robert Rudie, violin virtuoso, has a most impressive record which unquestionably features him as one of the outstanding violinists in America. He is also a conductor of note and a musical commentator who has won a host of friends for good music.

Mr. Rudie is the proud possessor of two very rare violins; a Stradivarius, dated 1724; and a Guadagnini, dated 1747. In all probability one of these prize instruments will be in his hands when he appears at the Sugarland auditorium.

An artist is seldom encountered who in addition to brilliant virtuosity displays such technical knowledge of the instrument in his employ. Mr. Rudie is a wise and witty raconteur when imparting this knowledge to his audiences through the medium of lecture recitals which are distinguished by his genial good humor and easy charm. For example, a usually hypercritical audience of students at a College of Mines was so fascinated by his remarks that they held the artist backstage after the performance for an hour and a half to exhibit his rare violins and to answer the most technical questions which concerned acoustics and construction. And only last spring in Oklahoma City, a symposium on rare violins was announced for a Saturday morning to be held at the Art Center. About a hundred people were expected. Four thousand persons showed up, and all the rooms of the Center were not enough to take care of the throng.

While Rudie's popularity has been greatly enhanced by his ebullient personality, his stature as an artist rests firmly on his musical achievements. A versatile musician, he has enjoyed a varied career. He is the veteran of several New York recitals. He has appeared as soloist with a score of major orchestras under leading conductors. He has appeared in recitals from coast to coast, and on international radio hookups as well as television shows. He was twice — in 1931 and 1933

ROBERT RUDIE

—invited to appear with the elite of the world's musicians at the celebrated Festival of Casals at Prades, France. He spent last summer as a performer, conductor, and narrator at the music festival at Aspen, Colorado.

For the past eleven years Robert Rudie has been the concertmaster and assistant conductor of the Oklahoma City Symphony Orchestra. During his tenure he appeared as soloist with the orchestra approximately fifty times, and conducted the orchestra regularly each season in home concerts, on tour, on national radio broadcasts. He was founder and conductor of the Oklahoma City Symphony Chorus, which gave many performances of major works with the Symphony and whose recording of Debussy's "Martyrdom of St. Sebastian" won the praise of critics throughout the country. He was also founder and conductor of the Northwestern State College Symphony at Alva, Oklahoma.

In guest appearances Rudie has enjoyed many television shows, most notably his own long-term series, "Fun with Music."

Robert Rudie was born in New York City of French-American parents. His father is a cellist, his mother a pianist and vocal coach. Both have had careers as performers and teachers. Having been brought up in an intensely musical household, Rudie has had music as his chief interest since infancy. After early training at home, he began the serious study of the violin when he was seven, made his orchestral debut at ten, and by the age of fourteen was playing recitals and with orchestra over the Mutual Network under the direction of Alfred Wallenstein, now the conductor of the Los Angeles Philharmonic. He won the New York Philharmonic Symphony Scholarship for study with Misha Elia and later, as a fellowship pupil at the Juilliard Graduate School, he worked with Albert Spalding and other noted musicians.

Robert Rudie is married to the former Martina Johnson whom he met when they were pupils together at the Juilliard School. Mrs. Rudie is an accomplished pianist. She has served as accompanist for many prominent artists (including her husband), has appeared extensively in solo recital, and while Mr. Rudie occupied the first violin desk of the Oklahoma City Symphony, she was the Orchestra's pianist. She is also a composer. Her Sonata for Violin and Piano is dedicated to her favorite violinist, who happens also to be her husband. Since relinquishing their posts in Oklahoma City in order that Robert might follow his solo career, the Rudies have moved back to the East and now make their home near New York City. The center of attraction there, as it is wherever they live, is their five-year-old daughter, Lynne.

Mr. Rudie will appear with the Festival Symphonette in the Sugarland auditorium in Clevelston on Monday, February 11, at 8:15 p. m. The Everglades Mutual Concert Association is happy to present this concert which will be the second attraction of this season.

RIGHT MATERIAL Du Pont "Parzate" powder or liquid, effectively controls Helminthosporium leaf blight on sweet corn.

RIGHT AMOUNT For "Parzate" powder, 2 pounds per 100 gallons should be used. The correct mixtures for "Parzate" liquid is 2 quarts, plus 1/4 pound zinc sulfate per 100 gallons.

RIGHT WAY Make sure that both sides of leaves are thoroughly covered. If applied improperly, even the best fungicide will be wasted.

RIGHT TIME Spray over 5 to 7 days. If disease situation in area is critical, spray more often.

"Parzate" makes a superior dust because of its fine particle size. Dusts should be used only when time or field conditions do not permit spraying. Sprays give superior disease control and resist washing off.
